A Message From Our

BOARD PRESIDENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Generosity lies at the heart of all the AAFP Foundation does. From financial support to volunteering time, everything relies on the 3 Ts—time, talent, and treasure.

The impact you, our generous family physicians and corporate partners, make fuels the good work the AAFP Foundation can do each and every year.

You see it in the gratitude a free health care clinic has when it receives a grant from the Family Medicine Cares program.

It's evident in the smiles and energy that fills the room during Emerging Leader Institute sessions.

It shows in the results of Family Medicine Discovers research projects.

The hours donated by working groups who review applications.
The prep work and follow up logged by mentors and faculty.
Those who help staff the Center for the History of Family Medicine.
The time and effort put in by board members.
The care and attention award winners and scholars put in.
And, of course, every donation no matter the size.

All of it combines into one powerful punch of impact that you help deliver.

The AAFP Foundation can't thank you enough for your generosity in 2022. Enjoy reading about the impact you made.

All the best,

David R. Smith, MD, MPH, FAAFP

CARES

CARES

Family physicians get it—more than any other specialty—that access to health care improves the entire community. You see the ramifications that the last few years, especially, has had on your patient population as well as the vital need to address social determinants.

That's why the Family Medicine Cares program exists.

Supporting Better Access to Health Care

In 2022, Family Medicine Cares USA (FMC USA) awarded grants to three new clinics and nine existing clinics. These clinics offer services at no charge to patients who would otherwise not have access to affordable primary care.

And as the country continues to adjust in this post-pandemic world, the FMC Work Group believes that the need for care will likely increase.

The funding for this program (up to $150,000 annually) provides new clinics up to $25,000 and existing clinics up to $10,000 for durable medical equipment and instruments for the diagnosis and treatment of primary care patients. Clinics with a Community Need Index (CNI) of 3.5 or greater are given preference.

This gift allows us to continue to provide compassionate primary health care to thousands of uninsured adults who would have nowhere else to turn—at no cost to the patients.

— CHARLENE C. LI, MD, CO-MEDICAL DIRECTOR
MALTA HOUSE OF CARE
HARTFORD, CT

Family Medicine Cares International

After much discussion and planning throughout 2021, the decision was made to shift the program location to the Dominican Republic and partner with One World Surgery (OWS).

In June 2022, a second discovery trip was made with an 11-member pilot team to assist with the implementation of the FMCI's three program components (medical education, patient care, and children's service project) and test drive FMCI in the Dominican Republic. This successful test drive led to the plan to take the first full-fledged FMCI delegation trip in January 2023.

There are significant challenges in the delivery of health care to rural communities like ours. This gift will prove invaluable to making a dream that began just over a year ago into a reality.

LEADS

LEADS

Great leaders start with amazing mentors and opportunities. There are always people or events that change the course of professional journeys. That's what the Family Medicine Leads program aims to be—that spark in the journey—for new family physicians.

Building Family Medicine's Future

At its core, the Family Medicine Leads (FM Leads) program is about providing access to education, mentors, and peers that build connections and open doors for leadership development. These initiatives help increase the quantity and maintain the quality of future family physicians.

In 2022, FM Leads awarded scholarships for the National Conference of Family Medicine Residents and Medical Students and also held the Emerging Leader Institute, both of which were in person for the first time in two years.

The 2022 Class of Scholars for the ELI were divided into one of three leadership tracks: Policy & Public Health, Personal & Practice, and Philanthropic & Mission-driven. At the 2022 National Conference, the newest class engaged with seven Leadership Project Award recipients from the 2021 class who were showcasing their projects.

These programs developed skills that will help me be successful in my future career. National Conference and the ELI program have left me with an even greater passion for family medicine, and I can't wait to pursue family medicine as a specialty.

— KRISTY HANSEN, CLASS OF 2025

These programs developed skills that will help me be successful in my future career. This conference is so important to my career in family medicine with so many teaching sessions, networking, and informational sessions that will kickstart my career. I could not be happier that I am here, and you made this possible for me.

DISCOVERS

DISCOVERS

Some of the greatest advances in medicine start with solving for problems. Family physicians excel at this, but lack of time, funding, and a million other reasons stop them from testing their theories.

Take away those roadblocks, and therein lies the goal of Family Medicine Discovers Rapid Cycle Scientific Discovery and Innovation (RapSDI) program.

Championing the Next Great Ideas

The goal of the Family Medicine Discovers program is to allow practicing family physicians to generate new evidence and innovative research models for “what works” in real-world primary care settings.

In 2019, Family Medicine Discovers launched Family Medicine Discovers Rapid Cycle Scientific Discovery and Innovation (FMD RapSDI). FMD RapSDI is a collaboration between the AAFP Foundation and the AAFP National Research Network (AAFP NRN). In 2022, the following physicians were selected as scholars:

Allene Whitney, MD, MS, faculty member and OB/newborn curriculum lead at the Alaska Family Medicine Residency Program in Anchorage, is examining methods that combine traditional visits with telehealth strategies to increase and improve prenatal care among pregnant women facing socioeconomic challenges, in particular those experiencing substance use disorders.

Capt. Michael Arnold, MD, an associate professor in the Department of Family Medicine at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences F. Edward Hébert School of Medicine in Bethesda, MD, will be working on his project, “Patient Applied Pre-treatment Anesthesia for Intrauterine Device Placement (PAP AID).” It will be looking at the benefit from women applying topical anesthetic to the cervix using a tampon 30 minutes prior to an IUD insertion procedure.

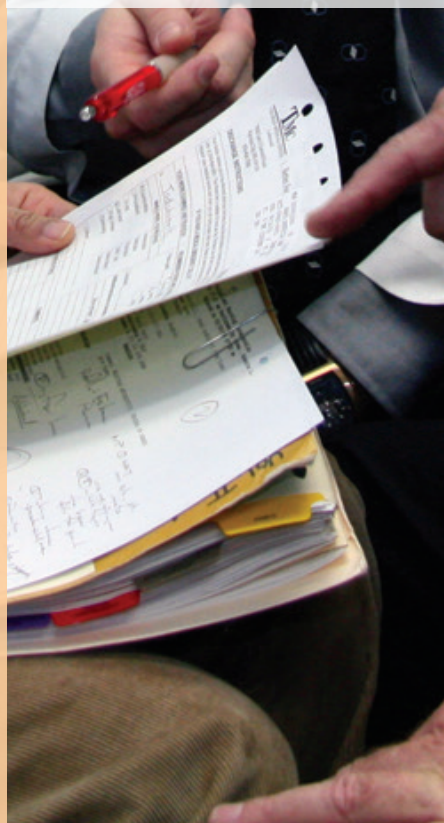

I wouldn't have thought to do [this project] without the grant funding. It's changed my life.

Caring for Those Who Need It

The Resident Service Awards, an extension of the Family Medicine Cares program, gives family medicine residents the chance to pursue a project that gives back to the community they are working in as well as the opportunity for additional clinical skill building and mentorship.

Annually, the Family Medicine Cares Resident Service Award (FMC RSA) provides two $16,500 grants to support 12-month service projects implemented by a first- or second-year resident that address an unmet health care need in their community. The awardees will present their projects at the 2023 National Conference of Family Medicine Residents and Medical Students.

2022 FMC RSA Recipients (residency year at time of application):

Aerial Petty, DO, a first-year resident with New York Presbyterian-Columbia University Family Medicine Program, is addressing mental, nutritional, and physical health through weekly lessons aimed at teaching youth, ages 8-22, what contributes to overall mental health. The project took place at Brotherhood Sisterhood Sol, a community-based organization located in Harlem, New York.

Michelle-Ann Ramsay, MD, and Tiffany Gillion, DO, both first-year residents at Tallahassee Memorial Family Medicine Residency Program, Tallahassee, Florida, are focused on communities with some of the highest rates of food insecurity in Florida. The project educated health care workers on how to screen for food insecurity and develop an effective referral system. A secondary goal of the project is to establish a TMH FMRP Food Bank.

Supporting Communities Through our Chapters

The Family Medicine Philanthropic Consortium, now Family Medicine Chapter Alliance, is a collaborative program of the AAFP Foundation and 55 AAFP Constituent Chapter Foundations. Since 2006, the FMPC Grant Awards program has provided more than $1.3 million in funding to support 417 projects.

- The 2022 FMPC Grant Awards awarded $38,750 to 21 Constituent Chapter/Chapter Foundation projects.
- The Student Externship Matching Grant Awards program provides matching grants that are a dollar-for-dollar match of $1,250 between the Foundation and the sponsoring Chapter/Chapter Foundation. In 2022, the AAFP Foundation awarded 23 matching grants to Chapters from 11 states, totaling $28,750 in funding.

Tell the Story of Family Medicine

The Center for the History of Family Medicine (CHFM) is dedicated to preserving the past to advance the future.

To that end, this past year the Center has:

- Held the second annual CHFM Student and Resident Essay Contest to encourage future physicians to engage with the specialty's history to direct the future. The 2022 winners were Audriana Mooth, DO (first place), and Jonothan Segars, DO (second place).
- Increased the award amount for the Sandra L. Panther Fellowship from $2,000 to $3,000. The 2022 winner was Catherine Smith, PhD, a professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison for her research project "The Doctors Riddle: Pioneers in Consumer Health Information."

In addition, the Center experienced an influx of engagements this year. The number of tours, reference requests, and other engagements reached 944 in 2022.

Every attempt has been made to ensure an accurate listing of all fiscal year 2022 gifts (January 1–December 31, 2022). We apologize for any errors or omissions. Space limits the listing of every contributor; however, we value all our donors.
